

The First Certified Organic Skincare Range For Young Skin

July 8th, 2009

Fresh young skin with a clear complexion is high up on the wish list for most girls. Green People has come to the rescue with Oy!, the first certified organic range created just for young skin. These funky products use a clever blend of certified organic and fairly traded ingredients, all chosen for their punch in the fight for great skin.

With quirky packaging and a no-nonsense approach to chemical nasties, Oy! gives kudos to any beauty cabinet. Simply put Oy! promises no gunk, no junk just clean, clear and vibrant skin.

Organic Young is the brainchild of Charlotte Vøhtz, Green People's founder. Charlotte started the company when her daughter Sandra was just two years old and suffering with allergies. Now sweet 16, Sandra has played an active part in the creation of Oy!, working alongside mum to ensure each product is what young people want and need, a sure winning formula. Sandra along with a group of savvy friends has road tested each product giving them all a big thumbs up.

Who are the stars of this skincare blockbuster?

- Prebiotics, clever little things that support the good bacteria and fight the bad that cause spots.
- Willow Bark, this superhero ingredient contains Salicin to soothe and reduce puffiness whilst exfoliating to lift those dead skin cells away.
- Tea Tree, an ultra potent extract providing the solution for young blemish-prone skin, working its magic with antibacterial properties to control the skins bad bacteria and banish spots
- Green Tea, an age old wonder adds some antioxidant punch to the mix.
- The flower power of Rosehip oil helps to prevent horrible blemishes from scarring the skin leaving it beautifully soft and smooth.
- And finally, there are Omega Oils 3 & 6 to keep young skin glowing, vibrant and nourished.

To get your hands on the organic young collection please visit the link below.

<http://www.organicyoung.com>